In 1997 we filed a claim with the Public Service Commission, against LG&E. This claim was filed because LG&E moved a balance to our residential bill, for a piece of commercial property located at 116 E. Main St. This commercial property was a building we leased to Morris McCrocklin. The original claim has a copy of this lease, which states that Mr. McCrocklin was responsible for utilities. At the time of the initial claim, perhaps I did not state our case very clearly, but we are disputing that we, neither myself, nor Gerry went into LG&E and requested that the service on Main St, be put into our name. Mr. McCrocklin is my Brother, so he could have access to most any of the info he needed to take into the office himself, such as social, etc. I would like for LG&E to provide us with a signature of the person who requested that this service be put into our name.

Recently this issue resurfaced, as Gerry & I purchased a new home. When I called and requested that service be transferred, I was denied this request, until this old balance was paid. Although, the original determination said that since the charges were incurred at 116 E. Main, that is the only location at which service could be terminated for nonpayment. However, I feel that service was terminated at 12407 Brothers Ave, our previous address, or 1201 Bentwood Way, the new address, because I was forced to pay this old bill, (not mine), before my service would be transferred. At this time I had my daughter, Lauren Diaz call in and request that the service be put in her name, and she was denied service also. Even though, she currently has service and pays her bills on time. I was denied my new service, and also denied payment arrangements. When it became apparent I was not going to get anywhere and needed service to my new home in the dead of winter, we ended up paying this bill in order to obtain new service at our new home address, in the amount of approximately 2100.00.

I would like for LG&E to provide proof that this is service that my husband requested. I would like to be reimbursed for my 2100.00.

I also believe there is some rule on a commercial bill, being placed on a residential bill.
